THE FLIGHT OF TIME

Oh, fleeting time of Youth and Love,
So quickly passing by;
Oh, halcyon days of bygone years,
Whose requiem is a sigh;
Come back again in dreams to-night,
Ye phantoms fair and sweet!
Right lovingly such ghosts as these My hungry soul shall greet.

I fain would bid Remembrance blot
This present page of Life,
Whose writing is the record stern
Of bitter toil and strife.

That I in Fancy's visions bright, Worth all the world to me,
The blissful scenes of long ago
Yet once again might see.

Then, gentle Sleep, for this one night Lull every thought of pain,
And in my dreams, my sleeping life,
Give back my youth again!

Give back the love, the hope, the trust,
The faith so full and free;
The loved and lost of yore return,
Return again to me!

Just before the close of the exercises Miss Clara A. Wheeler, in a most impressive manner, presented to the principal a very fine gold ring as a token of the strongest scholarly affection and evidence of her great indebtedness for her superior discipline. The devoted teacher received it with equal impression and with equal grace and dignity, which at all times characterizes her.

We regret that we have not space to notice the merits of each one; however, the exercises were all excellent, each receiving the individual attention of a large and intelligent audience. Superintendent G. F.
T. Cook and Trustee W. H. Smith, with whom we came in contact, were not only affable and magnanimous in their deportment, but understanding in their efforts to make it pleasant for all who chance to meet them; in fact, great credit reflect upon all their users.

In concluding, we have only to say you have won honors from where you have been, and entering the great arena of life you have honors yet to win. We therefore call your attention to our parting wish:

"A sacred burden is the life ye bear,
Look on it, lift it, bear it solemnly;
Stand up and walk beneath it steadily;
Fail not for sorrow, falter not for sin,
But onward, upward, till the goal ye win."

The Anti-Monopoly League with its headquarters at New York, has forwarded to us through its President, L. E. Chittenden, several important communications upon the political situation. The following extracts are the opinions of great men touching the issue.

IS THERE ANY DANGER?

Hon. David Davis, once a Judge of the Supreme Court, now a Senator of the United States, indicates the serious nature of the problem before us:

"Great corporations and consolidated monopolies are fast seizing the avenues of power that lead to the control of the Government. It is an open secret that they rule States through protracted Legislatures and corrupted Courts; that they are strong in Congress, and that they are unscrupulous in the use of means to conquer prejudice and acquire influence. This condition of things is truly alarming, for unless it be changed quickly and thoroughly, free institutions are doomed to be subverted by an oligarchy resting upon a basis of money and of corporate power."

The present Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Windom, in a recent letter to the President of the Anti-Monopoly League, says:

"The channels of thought and the channels of commerce thus owned and controlled by one man, or by a few men what is to remain of corporate power, or to fix a limit to its exactions upon the people?
What is then to hinder these men from depressing or inflating the value of all kinds of property to suit their caprice or avarice, and thereby gathering into their own hands the wealth of the nation?
Where is the limit to such a power as this? What shall be said of the spirit of a free people who will submit without a protest to be thus bought and sold?"

Hon. Jeremiah S. Black, ex-Judge of the Supreme Court and ex-Archbishop-General of the United States, recently stated:

"All public men must take their side on this question. There can be no neutrals. He that is not for us is against us. We must have legal protection against these abuses. This agitation once begun, and the magnitude of the grievance being understood, it will force our rulers to give us a remedy against it. The monopolies will resist with all their arts and influence, but fifty millions of people, in process of time, will learn the importance of fact that they are fifty millions strong."

Governor Gray, of Indiana, in a message to the Legislature of that State in January last, said:

"In my judgment the republic cannot live long in the atmosphere which now surrounds the business monopolies. Moneyed corporations to secure favorable legislation for themselves are taking an active part in elections by furnishing large sums of money to corrupt the voter and purchase special privileges from the Government. If money can control the decision of the ballot-box it will not be long until it can control its existence."

This is in entire accordance with the views of Daniel Webster, who said:

"The freest government cannot long endure, where the tendency of the law is to create a rapid accumulation of property in the hands of few, and to render the masses of the people poor and dependent."

The Press, with the exception of that portion which is owned or subsidized, are with the people in this fight. The New York Times (Rep.) under date of May 19, in an article regarding the encroachments of corporate power, says:

"It is not only absorbing to itself the fruits of labor and the gains of trade and piling up wealth in the hands of the few, but it is controlling legislation and endeavoring to sway the decisions of courts in its own interest. We are now at a stage in the contest where the people may vindicate their authority and place these corporations under the regulation of law."

The Brooklyn Daily Eagle (Dem.) in a recent editorial said:

"There is a pretty general feeling that the Continent of America was not discovered by Columbus, and civil liberty established by the Fathers of the Republic, to the end that fifty millions of people might be made tributary to a band of railroad magnates, or that farmers, or traders, or mechanics might, by hard work and keen competition raise up a dozen Vanderbilts, with each several hundred millions of dollars. Those who entertain this feeling have become persuaded that the time has arrived for the industrious masses of this country to protect themselves, if they ever intend to do so. It will certainly not be easier after the adversary has grown stronger. In this contest every delay is to the disadvantage of the people. Let the issue be deferred for a few years, and nothing but a miracle or a revolution as violent as that of France will overthrow the oppression. Of all misleading delusions, there is none more mischievous than the notion that popular suffrage and popular power are synonymous. Given the means of bribing multitudes, of intimidating others, of wrecking opponents, coupled with a total possession of the Government, and adverse sentiment must be paralyzed.
If the suffragists be to our salvation, it must be applied sharply while there are still odds on the side of unthought and unauthorized manhood."

A hundred columns might be filled with similar expressions from newspapers published in all parts of the country and now on file in the office of the National Anti-Monopoly League. Comment is needless.
The public welfare is in danger, and the influence of every patriotic citizen is invoked to avert it.

Respectfully, &c.

L. E. CHITTENDEN.

poly League.

To MAKE YOURSELF ATTRACTIVE—Study your style of face and figure, and dress in such a manner that they will gain beauty rather than lose it. Do not throw yourself into picturesque positions. Do not permit yourself to be called by a ridiculous nickname expressive of your peculiar defects. Avoid masculine-looking garments. Do not stride like a man in your walk. Do not mince your steps. Do not place your arms akimbo. If your hands are large and red, do not wear rings.
If you have red hair, do not be ashamed of it. Remember it was the hair that some of the greatest painters loved to paint. If you are fat, don't loiter on the tables and chairs. Don't be sulky, and recent injuries forever. Implacability increases beauty more than any other bad passion. Do not romp; high-dows are never attractive, though they may be amusing. If you have fine teeth, do not laugh and grin to show them. If you have fine eyes, do not roll them. Never indulge in a horse laugh. Don't be slovenly; don't be grim. Avoid indulgence of bad passions of every kind. Cultivate cheerfulness. Take care of your health.

PROSPERITY IN STORE FOR THE SOUTH.

To a recent interview Mr. Edward Atkinson, who has given much study to the material resources of the South, called public attention to two things that are likely to prove extraordinary agents in advancing the agricultural prosperity of the Southern States.
A cotton gin that planters and farmers have had to contend against there is the fact that it has cost three times as much to feed a mule or other animal as to support a field hand. One of the things mentioned by Mr. Atkinson is a new machine for separating the hulls from cotton seed and cutting up the leaf and stock of the plant in such a way as to convert into nutritious animal food what a few years ago was almost wholly wasteful. One result will be a supply of food for from twenty million to forty million sheep. This number of sheep means from seventy-five million to one hundred and fifty million pounds of wool a year, which in turn means an annual addition of from twenty-five to fifty million dollars directly to Southern wealth besides the vast indirect gains that must follow. There is little doubt that wool can be made a staple second only to cotton in the South, and there is reason to believe that it is destined to become so. Since the war the Southern wool product has increased at a remarkable rate. In Texas, the greatest of the wool producing States South, the clip has run up from six million pounds in 1866 to twenty-five million pounds in 1880. In the other Gulf States there has been an increase of more than fiftyfold in the product. By following up this progress and pushing on into the field of woolen manufactures the South may achieve results that most audaciously would not be material prosperity and wealth.

The other thing of which Mr.
Atkinson speaks is a newly discovered force called anilages for restoring exhausted soils and developing productive power. In his opinion it will prove the means of rejuvenating the South and of supplying what it has greatly needed—namely, abundant food during the long hot, dry season that

THIS PAPER MAY BE FOUND AT THE NEW YORK.

Assistant Secretary Upton has tendered his resignation to the Secretary of the Treasury.

It is gratifying to learn that Mrs. Garfield has sufficiently recovered, to take a trip to Long Branch.

The LOUISIANIAN on "Our Lake Resorts" has brought another Richmond in the field, let the work go bravely on.

Senator Conkling says he will not return to Washington without his colleague, Mr. Platt. What will the loud mouthed politicians say to that?

Senator Kellogg, Collector Badger and Gov. Pinchback, met in Chicago during the week. This may cause a ripple upon the still waters of the Granite Building.

Our spirited young local editor and esteemed friend W. S. Wilson left during the week for Hot Springs, Arkansas, where he will spend some time for the benefit of his health. Mr. Wilson will make a rigid canvass all along the line for the LOUISIANIAN, and will furnish his friends with an occasional correspondence. Our genial friend W. R. Boyd, of Terrebonne, will assume control of the local columns during Mr. Wilson's absence. Those who know him will not doubt his ability to make the columns interesting.

THE WEST INDIAN TRADE.

Commerce is the great builder up of communities, and divider of the masses. No people who are blind to the commercial interest of the community of which they form a part, will be considered prominent factors of that community. The larger our commercial relations, the greater our resources; and we must frankly admit that the commerce of New Orleans is too circumscribed for such an important city as this. Situated in the very center of the South American and West Indian commercial highways, it is doing absolutely nothing in the way of trade with these important places. The millions of dollars which flow annually into the treasuries of the North could be easily turned in this direction, which would be a great nursery to our contemplated manufactures. The quantity of articles consumed in those places are immense. Millions of barrels of flour, boxes of soap, barrels of meat, to say nothing of the large quantities of butter, lard, and other commodities which are shipped there in abundance. Nearly all of these commodities are shipped from the West by our New York and Boston merchants. They are invariably marked Chicago, St. Louis, and Cincinnati; it can thus be seen that the trade is foreign to the markets of Boston and New York, and is brought there simply by the thrift and enterprise of the merchants of those places.

Transportation from the West is just as easy by way of New Orleans. The water route down the Mississippi would be much cheaper than the railway route to either of the above named places, and would be sufficiently expeditious to meet the necessary requirements. The consummation of this great project needs the two great essentials to commercial success, enterprise and capital. With the former the latter would be available. Steam communication between South America and the West Indies would be much more remunerative than that of Mexico. In its incipency the route could lie by way of Cuba, thence to Jamaica, to Santo Domingo, Porto Rico, as far up as St. Thomas, across to Curacao, Laguna and the adjacent South American coast trade, and afterward extending throughout the Islands. The profit on our exports would be immense, but not equal to that of the returns, which would consist principally of tobacco, coffee, sugar, hides, honey, dyewoods of every kind, mahogany, and many other tropical productions too numerous to mention. It would familiarize the people of New Orleans with the beautiful Tropics, and thousands who are seeking places of pleasure would take advantage of this important enterprise, and we would soon have a weekly line of steamships as fine as any in the world plying over this beautiful route bringing immense wealth to the Crescent City. We shall continue the discussion of this important subject from time to time, and trust that whilst our public spirited journals are discussing the several great projects now prominent before the country, that this important measure be not neglected.

The recommendation of the Federal Commissioner in his annual report, is not as favorable to the South as we anticipated. It is conceded that there are greater needs for educational facilities in the South than in any other section of the country. The Nation should contribute largely toward the education of its citizens, and especially toward those who are ostracized and proscribed. We trust that a Republican Congress will not fail to grant the necessary relief.

The much talked of conference between President Garfield and Gen. Grant at Long Branch, would be a delightful thing for the party if it could terminate in a peaceful solution of the New York senatorial contest.

The States is still hungering, and thirsting after that Ten Thousand dollars appropriated to the Southern University. Education under difficulties, which is true as far as the colored children are concerned, is better than no education at all.

HUSBAND YOUR RESOURCES.

Sixteen or more years have passed since reconstruction, and the question comes has the race advanced or retrograded? No sane mind who will travel through this State, or all of the southern States, with the honest purpose of presenting facts as they are, will fail to around the country with the wonderful progress of the race, notwithstanding the many barriers with which they have had to encounter especially in sections, where the landlords are more tyrannical than the great Irish oppressors of which we hear so much. The Negro is not the thrifless ignorant creature so commonly spoken of by our Bourbon papers, but the millions of dollars accumulated from the rich staples of this State, which fill the coffers of our merchants, and keep afloat our river galleons, and sustain our railroad nabobs are the productions of their brawny arms. They toil incessantly in the cotton fields, the rice swamps, the cane lands, and other agricultural pursuits, and to-day, the State is one magnificent garden under the superhuman efforts put forth by these sons of toil. Converse with them, and you will find them invariably the superiors of many of the Caidens, or the white back woodsmen which comprise the bulldozing districts.

These being facts, we have a difficult question to answer to the satisfaction of the people of the great North and West. The question is, why is the condition of your people so miserable when compared with the farmers of the North and West, if they are so industrious? The answer is plain. In the North and West, facilities are held out to farmers, where they can become proprietors of small farms at fair prices, and supplies can be had at rates in comparison with the prices paid for labor: but in Louisiana it is not so. In sections where the land is most productive, a system is being perpetuated more rigid, more cruel, and more extortionate than in any part of Ireland. Not a single acre of land is purchasable, but rented at the exorbitant price of ten dollars per acre annually, which is really more than the value of the land. For the security of this, a lien is taken on the crops, the price of ginning, or girdling, must go to the proprietor, from whom the supplies must be taken at triple their cash value, and often, when harvest is over, the poor laborer who has rented twenty or thirty acres of land, are many hundred dollars in debt to the proprietor, which is a mortgage upon him and his family, almost as rigid as that of slavery. Notwithstanding all this, the negro is irrepressible. In many localities we see him rising above want, and freeing himself from this tyranny.

What the race needs most at this time, is to husband their resources. Study the rigidest economy, lay by every available dollar, demand the reduction of these exorbitant rents; or move to points in the State where lands can be purchased at cheap rates, and procure homes for their families. If the yield is not so great, remember that expenses are much less, and they will become their own masters. Foster industries among themselves, quit the Jew shops, unnecessary luxuries, whiskey drinking, and gambling, educate their children, and in short they will become independent. There will be no need of going to Kansas or any where else, but with strict economy, and industry, Louisiana will become as good a paradise as can possibly be found anywhere else. Now is the time to husband your resources, and at the beginning of another season dictate your own terms, and by your assistance, the LOUISIANIAN will do much to bring about these results.

The colored people of St. Helena parish, employ a competent teacher eight months in the year, at seventy-five dollars per month. Let other parishes do likewise and they will have one reliable school at least.

Gen. R. B. Elliott, special Agent of the Treasury left for his home in South Carolina on Wednesday last. Gen. Elliott will be absent about ten days, at the expiration of which he will return with his family.

MAHONE OF VIRGINIA.

Since the overthrow of Republicanism in the South by the Bourbon Democracy, nothing has given the hope of such a bright future looking to the emancipation of the South from Bourbon rule by a free ballot and an honest count, as the present Readjuster movement in Virginia, under the leadership of General Mahone. Gen. Mahone achieved his first great victory by his election to the United States Senate. He was elected upon the platform of a free ballot and an honest count. At the time of his election, no one could form any idea as to the position he would pursue in that body, effecting the two great contending parties upon the result of which depended the destinies of the South. Had Gen. Mahone sided with the Democrats in the reorganization of the Senate, the solid South would have been a settled fact at least for years. The only Republican representative in that body from the South would have been an absentee, and with the present State of affairs in New York the next Presidential contest would have been a formality. But Gen. Mahone, true to the platform which he had inaugurated, stood firm, notwithstanding the taunts, and the abuse of Senator Hill and his Democratic colleagues, Senator Mahone dared to rise in his seat, and cast his vote with the party, whose cardinal principles are a free ballot and an honest count. The position of Gen. Mahone is no longer a debatable one. What was true of his course in the Senate, cannot fail to be true in the State. The complete consummation of Gen. Mahone's plans, and the breach in the ranks of the solid South is largely dependent upon the action of the Virginia Republicans, who should not fail to do as he dared to do for the Republican party at that important crisis. Gen. Mahone's followers have just nominated a State ticket. The second place upon the ticket has been given to a Republican, and it is the duty of the party now, not to disband its organization, but to call a convention and endorse the Mahone ticket, and put in power a party which will insure a free ballot and an honest count. If such a combination is effected, not only Virginia, but Louisiana at least, in the next National contest will break away from the solid South, and cast their electoral votes for the nominee of the Republican party. The selfish motives that govern ambitious leaders to endanger the party for the control of Federal patronage should not be tolerated by the masses, but every sacrifice should be made to liberate our people from political servitude. The matter of the adjustment of the debt is a local measure, and should be no barrier at this time. Able and tried Republicans, such as Senators Conkling and Edmunds, whose judicial opinions are among the best in the country, have passed upon the matter, and should set at rest all cavilling as to the debt question. We trust therefore that the Republicans of Virginia will act judiciously in this matter, and be the pioneers in liberating the South from Bourbon rule, by a hearty co-operation with Gen. Mahone, and insure the election of the entire Mahone ticket in November next.

On account of our crowded columns we cannot give in full the interesting graduating exercises at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, June 15th, at Cincinnati, Ohio. The pleasant feature of the occasion was the graduation of Garnet Douglass Baltimore, as Civil Engineer, the first colored graduate of the institution. Mr. Baltimore has been engaged for engineering work in connection with the Albany and Greenbush bridge. The race need be proud of this distinguished young man, and the LOUISIANIAN extends its congratulations.

Mr. Thos. Garfield, uncle of President Garfield was accidentally killed by the East bound train on the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio railway on the 23d inst. Mrs. Alonzo Arnold, cousin of the President was also seriously injured. We sympathize with the President in this severe bereavement.

EDUCATION UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

The above is the title of an article in the States of the 20th inst., in connection with the Southern University. This journal never seems happy unless it is abusing the negro, misrepresenting some of our public men or institutions, or engendering sectional strife. The States with its immense circulation, could be a giant if it would but patronize its colleagues the Democrat, or the People's Vindicator; and it may yet be a useful educator of the masses, if the editor will but subsume some of his local scribbles, and use that they are thoroughly posted upon matters before giving them to the public.

The injustice done Messrs. Allan and Fayerweather we are certain, could not have been inspired by the editor, but rather by the willingness of a reporter to listen to the grievances of a direct professor. Had the reporter read the proceedings of the Board of Directors either in the Democrat or the LOUISIANIAN, he could not have been ignorant of the fact that the report submitted by Mr. Fayerweather was not an individual report, but the report of the executive committee. It cannot be presumed that Mr. Fay, the State Superintendent of Education, Mr. Marks, a respectable merchant, and the other members of the board would lead themselves to such a base act, by adopting a report which they knew to be erroneous. The remarks of the President and Secretary are sufficient guarantee to refute the charge that Mr. Edmunds made to the States reporter. Mr. Edmunds admits the justice of the report in his interview with him, "he frankly admits that he does not call at the University as often as he might, for the reason that he has no one to teach when he gets there;" but he is willing to draw his pay whether he attends or not. The position of the directors in reorganizing the Board is plain, having an interest in the University, they desire a corps of professors who will do justice to the pupils, and reflect credit upon the Institution. Any professor who occupies a position in an institution, and who will willfully traduce it through the columns of a prejudiced journal, commits an act which is criminal within itself and should be summarily dismissed. If the States believe that the Ten thousand dollars is an unnecessary appropriation, let it advocate the opening of the doors of the State University to all classes of citizens as intended by law and justice, without distinction to race, color, or previous condition, and save to the taxpayers the unnecessary appropriation. But whilst color is the difficulty with which we have to contend, and the States is willing to foster that difficulty, let it be generous enough to extend this facility for the education of our people. Mr. Allan is acting a good part, and with the reorganization of the faculty we think that the Board will have cause to feel very much gratified with the good results of the University.

The Boys in Blue who have already two thirds of the offices down here are clamoring for more, and threatens to bolt if they are not forthcoming. We thing it high time for the Boys in Black to have something to say. A bolt from that side would be rather more dangerous.

Our able contemporary, the Washington Sunday Item, has gone wrong on the Virginia question. It needs a little sojourn down here to convince any one that even repudiation is an improvement on Bourbonism.

The Washington Sunday Item says: Ex-Gov. Pinchback is talked of for Surveyor of the Port of New Orleans. The people of Louisiana says, let the appointment be made.

Mother Shipton's Prophecy did not come to pass on last Sunday, but if we are to judge by the excessive heat, all is not well in the planetary world.

A good constitution is like a money box—its full value is never known until it has been broken.

SUSTAINED.

Ever mindful of the interests and rights of our people, we had cause to refer in our last, to the glaring insults and unlawful discriminations towards our people at "Our lake resorts." In doing this we believed at the time that we were echoing the sentiments of our people, and we have been sustained by the many complimentary courtesies received from the masses; but none so effective as the communication received from our talented young friend R. L. Deadness, which will be found elsewhere in our columns. The argument of Mr. Deadness is convincing, and we trust that the Equal Rights Association alluded to in his communication will be created at once. The LOUISIANIAN will do all in its power to make it a success. In the agitation of this question we are proud to learn that another of our contemporaries will follow this week, and assist in the good work already begun. We have evidences of ultimate success. Since the appearance of the article, marked differences are already apparent especially at the West End, at which place parties have been accommodated without any distinction whatever. This is as it should be, and is all that we desire. In the mean time we shall advocate the organization of the Equal Rights Association alluded to by Mr. Deadness, as a safe guard around the rights of our people. We agree with him that many Democrats have no desire to abridge our rights, and would heartily welcome the issue which will break down this unnatural discrimination.

EQUAL RIGHTS.

EDITOR LOUISIANIAN:

In the last issue of your paper I read with pleasure an editorial in which you took occasion, and very properly, to denounce the outrages heaped upon our colored citizens by hotel keepers and their employees at our Lake resorts.

You warn and admonish these infractors of the law to discontinue their unjust discriminations, you could well add, unlawful discriminations, and thus save you the trouble of engaging in an unnecessary litigation for the redress of our grievances.

You say further, that it is the mission of the LOUISIANIAN to defend the rights of citizens. I fully agree with you, that to refuse refreshments to a citizen in a public establishment is a violation of law. I say further that such violations of law should not be tolerated. I do not believe, however, that admonitions and warnings will have any effect upon the crooked minds of these prejudiced characters. Something stronger must be adopted and rigidly pursued. Nothing short of an Association of Equal Rights will answer the purpose. Experience has amply demonstrated the futility and impotency of remonstrances. The men to whom they are addressed, believe in the inferiority of race, and upon that principle they act against the colored people with perfect impunity. Your warnings and threats on paper will not perhaps be read at all, and if they were by those who can read, they will simply provoke laughter. I think we have overdone the thing in the line of moral agitation, and now we should turn our attention to measures more persuasive in character and effect, if we expect to vindicate our race and protect its rights. Our rights are the rights of all, and the Courts should be the proper tribunals to receive and consider our complaints. If we have been denied any of our public rights, we are as much entitled to judicial redress as other people would obtain under similar wrongs. The proprietors and keepers of hotels and their public places and conveyances, have no legal right to refuse people accommodations on account of color, but they must treat us in the same manner as they treat others. If these lords of prejudice be so obdurate as to shut their eyes and ears to the law, it is our duty to make them open their purse and pay for the luxury. Neither the laws of the State, nor those of the corporation, as far as we are informed, authorize the proprietors of public places or their agents or employees, to make discriminations against any class of citizens on account of their color; on the contrary, the tendency is, that all citizens are equal before the law, and entitled to the same rights and privileges. This fact being established, we may safely invoke the equal protection of the laws of the State as a right guaranteed to all by the Constitution of the United States.

It is time that some of these "unregenerate" should know that we mean to test their legal right to admit us in their public establishments. It is by actual and constituted resistance that we must answer to these humiliations and denials. It is the duty of colored men to fight for an equal chance in the race of life, and not depend upon the generosity of others to do so for them. This is a civil matter and our own concern.

We have the facts and the laws, now let us go into litigation for the recovery of our rights, just as soon as we can make sure of the necessary means to successfully prosecute our case. It is true, that we have had cases of this kind before, and that justice was withheld from us, on some fine subtleties of law; but our failure was no evidence of wrong on our side, it was rather the effect of half-breed reconciliation, or the bad preparation of a good case; for sometimes a suit is never so good that it cannot be lost if good faith does attend it. To-day times are more suspicious, public opinion has somewhat relaxed in the encouragement of such outrages, except perhaps in a few quarters where there are neither education nor progress. I am willing to venture the opinion that many of our right-minded citizens of democratic proclivities would applaud unhesitatingly any active steps tending to a judicial vindication of our mishandled. We have a few young lawyers of our own race, let them be trusted with such cases; give them a chance to make a mark for their reputations, by rescuing our liberties from the jaws of prejudice.

Without any intention of redoubling, I humbly submit that our prominent colored men ought to see to it that a proper organization was at once effected and the proper means obtained, wherewith to undertake and carry on any litigation, which may at any time appear necessary for the just protection of our rights. Action is what is needed.

The Jews were attacked and prosecuted in certain parts of Europe, their friends organized at once and sued for damages, others emigrated. In New York where they are more influential and wealthy, they appealed to the Legislature and obtained a Civil Rights Bill, under which they will soon proceed to demand full satisfaction and vindication.

This is a practical world, words will not do where action is needed. The colored man and their families form part and parcel of this community and must be respected, or let the miscreants who disrespect them pay the consequences of their temerity.

I am glad that the LOUISIANIAN has declared that it is its mission to defend the rights of citizens. This enables me to hope that it will advocate the organization of an Equal Rights Association, and speedy actions upon the wrongs of the black race. There is no doubt that an organization of that character, with plucky men at the head of it would soon enlist the cooperation of a large class of our citizens, who, right or wrong, have almost withdrawn from public notice. These men need something of a stimulating nature to draw them out of their present apathy, some direct appeal to their manhood, and some guarantee that no child's play is intended. I trust that our abilities, our energies, and our patriotism will be summoned to the support of that grandifying idea, the unconditional demand of our "Equal Rights."

Yours Respectfully,

R. L. DEADNESS.

The Louisianian.

SATURDAY, JUNE 25, 1881.

Miss A. Ferrand, will spend the summer in Topeka, Kansas.

Gen. A. S. Badger, will be absent from the city more than a month.

Hon. Clement Young, of Iberia, was in the city during the current week.

The "Midget" had quite an adventure on Canal street, last Saturday night.

The Louisiana Bibles contemplate giving a grand excursion to Mobile next month.

Mr. Frank C. Anderson, will be married to Miss A. R. Shivers, on Thursday evening June 30.

Dr. Chester B. Darrell, Congressman elect from the Third District, made a flying trip to the city this week.

The many friends of Judge A. J. Damont will be pleased to learn that he is convalescent from a recent attack of cholera.

"Oh, my! How hot it is!" said one; "I should suppose," replied the other, "your remark is quite original, during this heated term."

The director of the Mint has requested an examination of the New Orleans Mint preparatory to the regular annual settlement.

Several of our young lady friends have departed from the city; and will sojourn at the watering places, and at pleasant rural retreats during the heated term.

A committee of ladies residing in the upper district, will give a private picnic to-day at the Orleans Park. With thanks, we acknowledge a complimentary.

Mr. W. S. Wilson, one of the reporters of the staff, left on a month's leave of absence. He took his departure on Tuesday, 21st inst., for Hot Springs, Ark.

A joint parade and picnic will be given under the auspices of the Longshoremen's U. B. A. and Longshoremen's P. U. B. A. No. 2, Monday, 27th inst., at Looper's Park.

Mr. James D. Kennedy, our genial young friend, arrived from Washington, D. C., last Sunday morning, looking the very picture of health. The boys gave "Capt." a royal welcome.

Our well known and popular young friend, Mr. Thomas Collins, will leave the city July 1st, for summer recreation North. While absent, he will visit most of the eastern and western cities.

We have noticed that an illiterate buffoon, who is given to burlesque, mimicry, vainly attempts, in his uncouth manner, to criticize the efforts of those who are far his superiors. We have an eye single to this individual's witless antics, and may draw him out of his obscurity.

One of our "Bubs," says, that the plain, blunt expounder of the "old version," who pastures his live-stock on the neutral ground of Canal street, is near proximity of the "Granite," should be continually on the look-out for the animal? They wander sometimes to very mysterious places. Don't let your cattle stray; we once saw a cow-hide in a tannery.

Another brutal tragedy was enacted in the parish of Tangipahoa on Saturday last, by a white desperado, who willfully shot down two colored men. The murderer is still at large. Also a brutal murder at Baton Rouge, the full particulars of these outrages will be given in our next. If the State authorities are powerless to arrest these murderers, which is a curse to the community, it is an evidence of their inability to control the affairs of the State.

Tuesday of this week one of our Third District Social Circles, gave a complimentary picnic at one of our beautiful suburban parks. The up town gallants were charmed with the pretty creole belles, and enjoyed their little foreign peculiarities of speech, and special forms of civilities. But the boys will put in their bill of complaints against the vigilant surveillance of the chaperons, who are always in close attendance on these occasions, which tends to embarrass the bashful admirers of the creole beauties.

Another one of our young friends has joined the Grand Order of Benefactors. Married: On Thursday, 16th inst., at the residence of the groom's father, Rev. Father Moore officiating, Miss Marie Louise Thompson to Mr. Edward J. Holmes. Owing to the illness of Mr. Holmes, only a few intimate friends were present. That our popular young friend may soon become convalescent, recover his wonted robust health, and enjoy his new life within a bright halo of true happiness, is the earnest wish of his many friends.

On Saturday evening last an altercation occurred in the vicinity of Customhouse and Claiborne streets, in which one of our popular young men, short in stature, took a prominent part. The young lady in question, with the pugilistic skill of a Henning struck the first blow, which brought the young man to ground. He again got from under, and made another desperate effort to carry off the laurels, which resulted into disaster. Physically she is his superior. Realizing this fact, he took to his heels, vehemently protesting against the imposition on a peaceful citizen, while quietly gerrubulating the public thoroughfares.

Several weeks ago an article appeared in the local columns of this paper, in reference to an episode that occurred on Canal street. Since the publication, we have been reliably informed that several young ladies living in other directions than that we had reference to, have taken umbrage at the same. We have no reference to the ladies in question, what we said was authentic. A recantation therefore is an impossibility. We have no desire to enter into an altercation with any individual at this juncture, or to make apologies. We make this explanation simply because we have no desire to be placed in an erroneous attitude. We were right then, and we are right now, as it is our purpose to be right in the future, regardless of opinions of individuals.

USE DISINFECTANTS.

The season is rapidly approaching, if it have not already arrived, when something must be done to preserve health and prevent some form of fever that depend on blood poisoning. The following is a very good disinfectant: Take three pounds of copperas and dissolve it in four gallons of hot water, and then add a half pound of carbolic acid (carbolic No. 5 is as good as any) and the mixture is all ready for use.

One gallon will serve to disinfect a foul privy vault. The operation of disinfection should be repeated every week or two. Lime should not be thrown in privy vaults. Plaster of Paris may, however, be freely used. For sinks, kitchens, open drains, yards, stables and alley-ways that give off bad odors, use freshly slacked lime, plaster of Paris, copperas sprinkled about. See to it that your lot is well drained and that no kitchen slops stand in your yard. Prevent privy vaults from overflowing. Whitewash all unpainted sheds, privy vaults, fences and your own person so that you are doing a good sanitary work.

CLEANING AND DISINFECTING OF PREMISES.

The following circular has been issued by the Board of Health:

RANTIAN MEMBERS TO BE INFORMED THAT THE SANITARY INSPECTORS OF THE CITY OF NEW ORLEANS.

Office of the Board of Health, State House, April 22, 1880.

1. House-to-house inspections must be pressed as rapidly as possible.

2. Order the abatement of all nuisances.

3. Order the emptying and disinfection of all foul privies.

4. Order the periodic disinfection at intervals of not less than seven days of all privies and water closets.

5. Order the cleaning and disinfection of all foul alleyways and yards.

6. Enforce the ordinance which compels all citizens to place all garbage and refuse in receptacles, and to remove the same to the removal by the garbage cart.

The Board of Health of the State of Louisiana deem it important that the people should be instructed with regard to the value and importance of disinfection, for the removal of foul gases and emanations, and for the destruction of the poison of infectious and contagious diseases.

To accomplish the greatest good for the preservation of the health of the people, disinfection should be practiced at regular intervals throughout the entire year; but more fully, and frequently in the city of New Orleans, during the months of May, June, July, August, September and October. By disinfection the greatest danger of pestilence and should not delay the practice of these important measures, until disease is actually developed, by the neglect of sanitary laws. Each citizen, therefore, by obeying rigidly sanitary laws becomes the guardian of the health of his household.

New Orleans is without sewers, and the privies contain at all times an immense amount of fecal matter. Even under the most elaborate system of sewerage, the contents of the privies, if not removed, would be a source of great danger to the public health. It is, therefore, of the greatest importance that the contents of the privies should be borne in mind, however, that disinfection should be substituted for the cleanliness of the privies, but should be used for the prevention of these putrefactive processes which result in the generation of compounds and agents deleterious to man.

Disinfection of privies and water closets.

For disinfection of privies, cess-pools, water closets and water closets, use Sulphate of iron (green vitriol or copperas) 8 pounds; Calver's carbolic acid No. 3, 1 pint; water, 4 gallons; dissolve the green vitriol in hot water, and when cool add the carbolic acid.

Add one gallon of this mixture to the privy or water closet, and the contents should be thoroughly disinfected, and thereafter one quart every day, until the contents are removed. If the contents are not removed, the mixture should be used in the disinfection of privies, as it decomposes the salt of ammonia.

This objection, however, does not apply to the sulphate of lime (plaster of Paris), which may be used with advantage in combination with carbolic acid and copperas. The contents of the privies and all unspilled wood work should be whitewashed.

FOUL DRAINS, DAMP FLOORS, WALLS, COW-HOUSES, MARKETS AND ALLEYWAYS.

Fresh slaked lime, chloride of lime, plaster of Paris and sulphate of iron should be sprinkled over damp and foul places, drains and yards. For disinfection of such places a simple solution of sulphate of iron or copperas, in proportion of one and a half pounds to the gallon, may also be used. The copperas solution may be prepared in large quantities for markets, streets and slaughter houses, foul yards, drains and gutters, by hanging a basket containing about seventy pounds of copperas in a barrel of water.
